

The female-led WWII podcast that takes the history seriously and the storytelling personally.

SAM

CO-HOST

MAARTJE

CO-HOST

ABOUT THE SHOW

Rosie the Reviewer is a female-led podcast covering WWII in film, television, and books, with the critical rigour of film journalism and the historical depth of serious scholarship. Hosted by Maartje and Sam, the show reviews everything from landmark miniseries to overlooked gems, asking not just whether a story is well-told, but whether the history holds up and whose story is being told.

With 120+ episodes and guests including the creator of The Pacific, the military advisor of SAS: Rogue Heroes, and award-winning WWII author Clare Mulley, Rosie the Reviewer has built a reputation as essential listening for anyone who cares about how this war is remembered.

NOTABLE GUESTS

Bruce McKenna — Creator and principal writer of HBO's The Pacific; WGA Award winner for Band of Brothers

Clare Mulley — Author of The Spy Who Loved and Agent Zo (shortlisted, Women's Prize for Non-Fiction 2025)

Ben Simmons — Military advisor, SAS: Rogue Heroes Seasons 1 & 2

Bobby Schofield — Actor, SAS: Rogue Heroes (Cpl. Dave Kershaw)

Corin Silva — Actor, SAS: Rogue Heroes and Masters of the Air

Scott Gibson — Actor, HBO's The Pacific (Capt. Andy Haldane)

120+ episodes

Weekly releases

Spotify, Apple Podcasts & more

Video podcast on YouTube